PRINCIPAL NEWS

The mornings lately have been giving us a taste of what winter is going to bring! It's been tough to leave the warm sheets behind.

Students have been engaged in amazing learning opportunities within the classrooms. I was amazed during a recent walk-through by the discussions I heard among the students and with their teachers. They demonstrate a great depth of understanding of the topics being taught and are articulate in expressing their points of view. It's evident that the teachers have put in a lot of time and effort to design these lessons. Keep up the good work!

National Reconciliation Week is held from 27th May to 3rd June every year. It is a time for all Australians to learn about our shared histories, cultures, and achievements, and to explore how each of us can contribute to achieving reconciliation in Australia. Reconciliation involves establishing and maintaining a mutually respectful relationship between Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal peoples in this country. It was wonderful to hear that many classes discussed the past and talked about how we all have a part to play in the future.

I came across an article the other day discussing 'brain food,' and it got me thinking (I know, I know!!). What types of snacks should I be having to boost my energy throughout the day? At the top of the list is water. Water is essential for switching on our brains and keeping them hydrated. The article listed the following brain foods:

Dried Fruit: apples, peaches, apricots, pears, sultanas (even a fruit mix)

Fresh Fruit: apples, cherries, mandarin segments (any are good, though!)

Vegetables: carrots, celery, beans, cucumber

Wholegrains: plain rice crackers (no baked or fried snack crackers) and unsalted and unflavoured popcorn.

So, if I want to keep my brain ticking over for the whole day, I think I'll start incorporating more of these foods into my day! I challenge the staff and students to "feed our brains" with foods that are good for them. It can only help us stay more alert during the day and become even more powerful learners.

We are fortunate to have some of our Year 10 students experience Operation Flinders each year (next week for our students). They have the opportunity to walk through parts of the Flinders Ranges (approximately 100 kilometres over 8 days) and camp out in bush camps. It's a chance to challenge themselves physically and mentally while also forming great friendships along the way. I hope this year's crew enjoys the experience and discovers that they are more capable than they may have originally thought.

As always, if you have any queries throughout the year, please reach out to your class teacher, Callum, or myself via Dojo, email, or phone. We would prefer to know about something that is concerning you rather than not. This way, we can take action and improve the situation for everyone involved.

Catch up soon.

DEPUTY PRINCIPAL NEWS

Headspace

Next week, Headspace will conduct engaging sessions for our students, focusing on crucial topics related to mental health. Students in Years 7 and 8 will participate in an interactive workshop addressing bullying and its impact on mental health. They will learn practical strategies to stand strong against bullying and foster a supportive environment. For students in Years 9 to 12, Headspace will deliver a session on mental health and the importance of supporting their peers. They will gain insights into common challenges and learn how to provide appropriate help.

These sessions aim to equip our students with essential skills and knowledge to prioritise mental health and create a safer, more compassionate school community.

Literacy

At Cleve Area School, literacy is a whole school focus. Led by Jess Deer and utilising insights from Brightpath assessments, the secondary team is developing engaging literacy activities that span across subjects. By incorporating subject-specific literacy tasks and providing differentiated instruction, we aim to equip students with essential literacy skills for success in all areas of their education.

Hats

Just a friendly reminder that our school has a year-round hat policy in place. We want to commend the majority of our students for their excellent compliance with this policy, even as we go through many cloudy days. By consistently wearing broad brim hats, our students are forming valuable habits that prioritise their sun safety and well-being. Let's continue reinforcing these habits and ensuring a healthy and protected environment for all.

Reports

As we approach the end of the semester, our dedicated teachers are hard at work preparing reports to provide valuable insights into your child's academic progress. We appreciate your patience and support during this process.

While reports will be mostly consistent with last year, grades for classes in Years 7-10 will now include +/- indicators. The "+" symbol indicates that some of the student's achievement was at a higher grade band, while the "-" symbol indicates that some of the student's achievement was at a lower grade band. These changes aim to provide parents with a more detailed understanding of their child's progress. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me for further information.

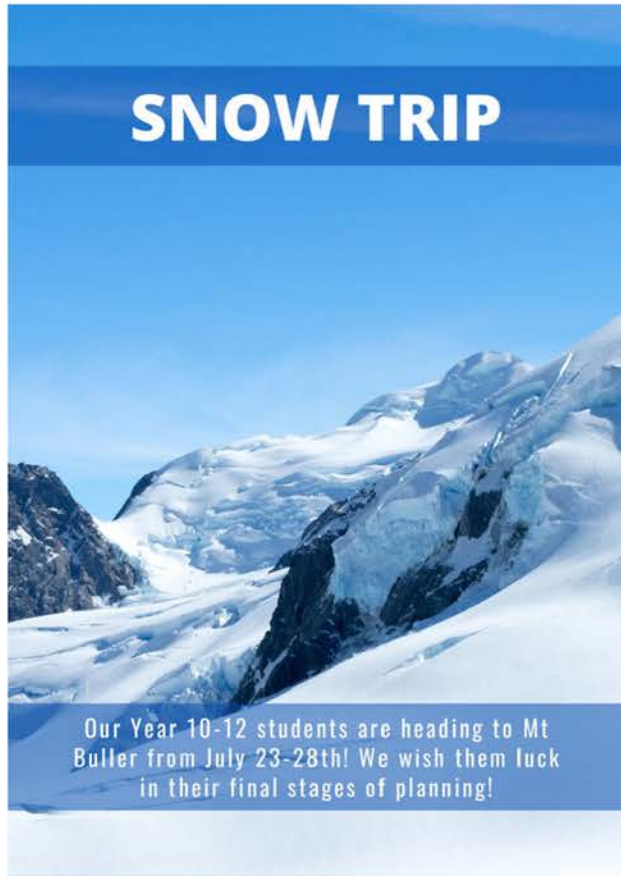

We also kindly remind parents that reports will be emailed home at the end of term to ensure convenient access and timely delivery. If you need to update your email address on file, please don't hesitate to contact the school's administration. We appreciate your cooperation in keeping our communication channels up to date.

SRC Volleyball Comp

In the midst of the exhilarating Volleyball Competition, the staff team faced an unexpected challenge when Mr. M, a vital member of the team, went AWOL. However, through resilience and collective effort, our staff members rose to the occasion and ensured they remained at the top of the table.

In addition to the commendable performance of our staff team, the VolleYGals have emerged as fierce contenders in the tournament. Their remarkable teamwork and strategic plays have caught the attention of spectators, propelling them towards success. Furthermore, let's not overlook the impressive strides made by Jim Collins, whose standout player in Coby Dolling deserves special recognition. Despite a missed smash from an incredible set up by Hamish Turner, Coby's exceptional skills and determination height have uplifted the team and put him on track for the coveted MVP title.

Cheers
Callum
